

Introducing The WalkAide® Home Assessment Program

Increase WalkAide sales by letting your patients try it before they buy it.

Program Overview

The WalkAide Home Assessment Program has been designed to let your patients experience the dramatic difference the WalkAide can make in treating foot drop. Offered as an in-home trial, your patients can see and feel for themselves the enhanced independence and mobility the WalkAide provides.

Program Requirements

The WalkAide Home Assessment program makes it easy for both patients and clinicians to participate. However, there are several important requirements when joining the program:

- Patient Set-Up: You must ensure the WalkAide Demo unit is programmed and fitted correctly and the patient exhibits the proper gait. You must educate the patient on system operation and maintenance as well, so they can reproduce the result at home.
- Trial Period: Innovative Neurotronics recommends a trial period of at least two weeks (14 days) for every patient.
- Purchasing the Unit: WalkAide Demo unit (product # 20-1002) are available at a discount for clinicians and it comes with a warranty as expressed in the Warranty Card provided with the the device. These units are designated for the Home Assessment program or demonstration only and cannot be sold or rented to the patient.
- Cost to Patient: Patients are required to purchase all disposable items upfront, including the Cuff and Electrodes. After the trial period, the cost of these items will be applied to the total price of the system if the patient chooses to purchase it.
- Maintenance Requirements: The clinician must visually inspect and clean the WalkAide Demo unit thoroughly before using it for the next patient trial.
- Patient Manual: The clinician must provide a printed copy of the patient manual to the patient for the trial period.
- Liability: Innovative Neurotronics is not liable for any injuries or risk to the patient during the trial period.
